REPUBLICANS MEET,

Gesticulate, Orate and Formulate Along Political Lines of the Day.

The Republicans of Ohio county met in convention at the courthouse in Hartford last Monday afternoon to select delegates to the Fourth Congressional District Convention which meets in Elizabethtown on May 16, which will also appoint delegates to the Louisville Convention of May 17, and choose a Presidential elector for this district. It was rather a small crowd, considering that it was county court day and the weather extra fine.

Judge John P. Morton called the convention to order and Hon. R. C. Jarnagin was elected chairman. From the movement of things throughout the convention it seemed that everything was out and dried beforehand. Mr. Jarnagin of course felt called upon to make a speech and he lost no time in getting at it. It might have been a surprise to Mr. Jarnagin that he was chosen chairman, but nevertheless he was provided with a little paper of notes to prompt his speech. The speaker dilated at length, upon the terrible "manipulations" of the Democrats in Kentucky. He tried as best he could to defend the course of the Republicans. He undertook to palliate the foul assassination of Mr. Goebel by picturing his party as the most persecuted organization in existence, but elicited little applause. Mr. Jarnagin spoke of the Legislature being sent to London by W. S. Taylor and then dropped that branch of his subject quickly, as if he didn't care to tell why they went there or what became of them after they got there. The speaker closed his peroration by advising his Republican friends that there were three avenues of escape left open for them, viz: Submission, Federal intervention, or rebellion. He seemed partial to the latter course, and the lurid picture he drew was enough to make hair stand on the back of a curmudgeon.

The convention then stopped long enough in its speech-making to elect Mr. Lon Rogers as Secretary, and appoint a committee on resolutions.

The convention then began to call loudly for Mr. C. M. Barnett, who had left his $5,000-a-year job in Louisville long enough to come down and keep his Ohio county brethren in line. Mr. Barnett very facetiously paid his respects to THE HERALD and its editor in starting, and then dove into State politics. It wouldn't have been a Republican speech if the Goebel law had failed of abuse at his hands. He first said it was an awful law and that the voters could not obtain justice under it, and then said he didn't care whether it was repealed or not, as the Republicans would carry the State anyhow. Mr. Barnett enlisted W. S. Taylor as the purest, noblest man in the Republican party, and said the pseudo-Governor knew nothing whatever about the assassination of Mr. Goebel.

When Mr. Barnett had finished, the convention began to call for Messrs. S. P. Roby and Randolph Wedding. Mr. Roby, who was sitting beneath the drippings of the political sanctuary, started to arise, and so did Mr. Wedding. Mr. Roby sat down and Wedding glared at Roby and sat down also. It was then a guess as to which would get up the quickest, but after several apprehensive glances from both gentlemen, Mr. Roby succeeded in getting the floor. Mr. Roby said Mr. Barnett had made the speech he intended to make, but nevertheless he proceeded to thrash over the old straw. The speaker said he was going to exhort his hearers, and he did. He said, among other apt things, that the Republicans must just give the Democrats to understand that they—the Republicans—are running things. The Democrats of Kentucky and the universe were roundly scored. Mr. Roby again said that Mr. Barnett had made his speech, and having had oral demonstration of this fact, the audience looked like it believed him. It was therefore a hard matter to determine who should claim the faint applause which followed.

Seeing the coast now clear of breakers, Mr. Wedding made his way to the speaker's stand. It developed that Mr. Wedding had a little speech, which he proceeded to recite very nicely. Like his predecessor, Mr. Barnett, however, he couldn't help but take a farewell which at THE HERALD, which we hope afforded him quite as much satisfaction as "Townsmen's" uncalculated attack on the Calhoun and Ramsey ladies and his later silly gibe at THE HERALD's editor for defense of our fair visitors.

As soon as Mr. Wedding's five minutes were up, the committee on resolutions came forward and reported. They endorsed the gold standard, W. S. Taylor's "upright, determined and manly fight" to maintain Republicanism in Kentucky and commended the usurpers in their desperate effort to hold the offices. The Goebel law was of course condemned, and the committee seemed to think it their duty to take a crack at all political creation with a Democratic aspect.

The actual result of the meeting was the recommendation of Mr. M. L. Heavrin as Presidential elector from this district and the appointment of 27 delegates to carry the news to Hannan. An amendment was interpolated into the resolutions commending the respectable course of the Hartford Republicans in the recent campaign and contest, and the meeting adjourned.

An Ancient Belief.
The ancients believed that rheumatism was the work of a demon with a man. Any one who has had an attack of sciatic or inflammatory rheumatism will agree that the affliction is demonic enough to warrant the belief. It has never been claimed that Chamberlain's will cure rheumatism, but it does bear testimony to the truth of this statement. One application relieves the pain, and this quick relief which it affords is alone with many times its cost. For sale by Z. Wayne Griffin & Bro., Druggists.

Speech and Hearing Restored.
KOKOMO, IND., May 5.—Miss Julia Main, aged 37 years, daughter of a leading Taylor township farmer, is just learning to talk. When 15 months old she had the smallpox, which left her totally deaf and speechless. She was graduated from the Deaf School at Indianapolis 16 years ago. Dr. I. W. Rayburn, of this city, operated on her ears and throat this week, with the result that the woman now hears ordinary conversation, and is learning to talk. The first sounds confused her terribly, and she started in wonderment over possession of her new faculties. She soon learned to imitate sounds, and her "baby talk" is the sensation of the neighborhood. Another singular feature is that the marks of the smallpox are leaving her face.

We learned by telephone just before going to press last night that Mr. J. W. Ragland, of Rosine, who has been very ill for the past few days, is no better and his death it is feared, is only a question of a few hours.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH.

Rabbi David Klein, 522 E. Main street, Columbus, O., writes the following to Dr. Hartman in regard to Pe-ru-na: "It affords me great pleasure to testify to the curative merits of your medicine, Pe-ru-na is a well-tried and widely used remedy. Especially as a specific for catarrh of the stomach it cannot be excelled. Pe-ru-na will do all that is claimed for it."

Mr. Alex. Carter of Van Buren, Carter Co., Mo., says: "I had been troubled with dyspepsia and indigestion since 1870. The best physicians in the country could do no good. I visited the Mulanphy hospital in St. Louis and received no benefit. The attending physician told me I had narrowing of the outlet of the stomach, and the only remedy was to have it cut out, which I refused to have done. I then visited West Baden, Ind.; Las Vegas Hot Springs, New Mexico; Sweet Springs, Mo., and Monticello, Col. I also took a great many different kinds of medicine recommended for dyspepsia, but found no relief. Last February I read a testimonial for Pe-ru-na in the Central Baptist that suited my case and I determined at once to try it. I have taken two bottles of Pe-ru-na and four of Man-a-lin, and I feel like a new man. None of my friends believed I would get well. I would not take any money for the good your remedies have done me."

In catarrh of the stomach, as well as in catarrh of any other part of the body, Pe-ru-na is the remedy. As it has often been said, if Pe-ru-na will cure catarrh of one part, it will cure catarrh of any other part of the body.

Speech and Hearing Restored.
KOKOMO, IND., May 5.—Miss Julia Main, aged 37 years, daughter of a leading Taylor township farmer, is just learning to talk. When 15 months old she had the smallpox, which left her totally deaf and speechless. She was graduated from the Deaf School at Indianapolis 16 years ago. Dr. I. W. Rayburn, of this city, operated on her ears and throat this week, with the result that the woman now hears ordinary conversation, and is learning to talk. The first sounds confused her terribly, and she started in wonderment over possession of her new faculties. She soon learned to imitate sounds, and her "baby talk" is the sensation of the neighborhood. Another singular feature is that the marks of the smallpox are leaving her face.

We learned by telephone just before going to press last night that Mr. J. W. Ragland, of Rosine, who has been very ill for the past few days, is no better and his death it is feared, is only a question of a few hours.
